

Interactive Workshop

Emergenetics helps employees and teams discover their collective strengths and champions the power of diversity within teams.

Emergenetics is an innovative & brain-based psychometric assessment that:

1. Highlights the differences in our cognitive preferences.
2. Promotes respect, appreciation, and a desire to learn from others.
3. Provides an agile framework for effective teamwork.

Why is this important?

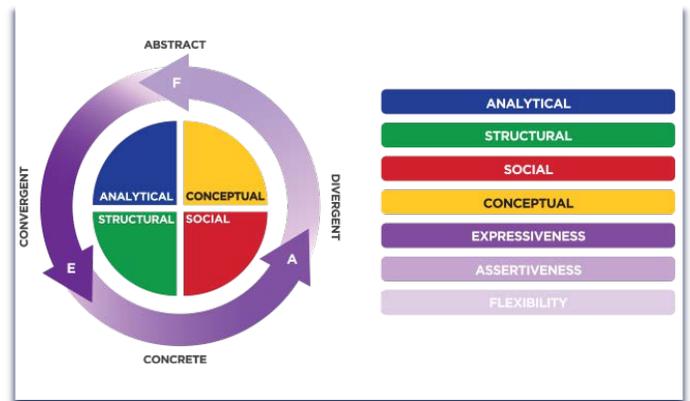

The most successful professionals are those with an accurate understanding of how they think & behave. Research shows that although 95% of people think they understand themselves, only 10-15% actually do.

Emergenetics unlocks insight vital for individuals, and teams, to successfully align around their most important priorities.

Session Outcomes

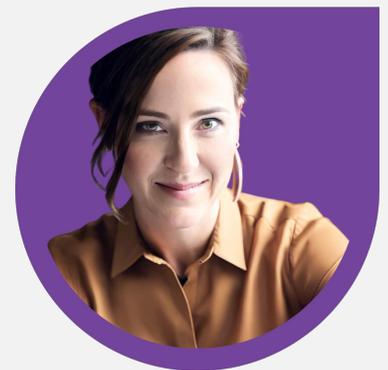

We leverage brain research, behavioural psychology, and learning experiences to remove the biggest barriers to success. Workshop participants develop:

- Relationships built on respect and trust.
- Effective communication strategies.
- Collaborative approach to problem solving.

Emergenetics overcomes many common challenges with personality assessments; nobody is 'boxed in', accurate yet easy to apply, and measures thinking & behaviour separately.
