Tara-Lee Goerlitz

Partner & CEO

Organizational Health Consultant,
Team Strategist & Thought Leader

Tara-Lee Goerlitz is a leadership & teamwork consultant and CEO of NexLevel, a firm dedicated to helping organizations become healthy through developing great leaders, cohesive teams, and engaged employees.

Tara-Lee's 25 years of business experience, and proven solutions, help leaders address challenges around trust, conflict, commitment, accountability and most importantly, results!

Tara-Lee's passion for people and organizational success is reflected in her speaking, facilitation, and executive consulting. Tara-Lee is a member of CAPA Pro, the professional membership network of Patrick Lencioni & the Table Group, an Advanced Emergenetics Associate, Experiential Facilitator, Certified Challenge Course Practitioner, and Bachelor of Commerce grad.

One of Tara-Lee's favorite ways to give back is as a mentor with the BMO Mentorship Program at Haskayne's School of Business, University of Calgary. "I think University students are some of the coolest people on the planet! I hope I provide them as much value as I receive from them!"

When she's not busy working in her family business, you will find Tara-Lee with her husband, kids, cats, or surrounded by a network of amazing friends. I love to be outside – camping, hiking, skiing, or enjoying a great glass of wine around my fire table.

"Thank you for providing our leadership team such a great experience. It was engaging, thought-provoking, challenging, yet fun. Our team has built connections and trust and has many takeaways to bring forward into our organization. Thank you for a laid back, professional, and safe experience for all."

Great Leaders. Cohesive Teams. Engaged Employees.

“If you are serious about your business, NexLevel is one of the best. They will help you leverage individual strengths, gain team commitment and develop stronger teams! Thank you for kick starting our business!”

“NexLevel has helped us foster communication and trust within our Calgary division. The tools were informative, easy to understand and fun to implement.”

“Our work with NexLevel has allowed us to understand ourselves and our team members much better. We understand how to work collaboratively with others and maximize individual strengths. We have seen immediate results and already have a stronger team with common objectives and enhanced relationships.”

“The Training program facilitated by NexLevel allowed our team to break through communication barriers. The sessions were powerful in promoting professional and personal growth. We are stronger as a team with increased trust, effective communication and respectful interactions.”
